

Weather
Clear and Cool

McGill Daily

Today's Saying
Will the Charities Campaign go over?

Vol. XXIV., No. 25

MONTREAL, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1934

PRICE TWO CENTS

Campaign Speeds Up As Zero Hour Nears

Charities Campaign Ends Tonight — Last-minute Drive Proceeds Today as Collectors Seek to Bring Total up to $2000. — Only One-half Total Now Collected — Ransom Makes Appeal to Students to Give, Give, Give — Money Needed Urgently

PLUNGING into the last day of their drive, Federated Charities collectors are today making a desperate last-minute effort to amend the state of affairs that now exists, with only one-half of the pledged total of $2000 collected. The drive is scheduled to end at 7 o'clock tonight, and consequently the collectors seek to reach all the students who have as yet not made their donations.

Returns Discouraging
The various faculties are on the whole below their objectives. Theology leads with a 126 per cent response, while Dentistry lags with but 13 per cent contributed. Arts is in practically the same plight, only 30 per cent having been collected to date. The full returns will be found elsewhere on this page.

The fund already collected is below last year's total, and it is realized that such a small sum as has been collected would bring disgrace to McGill. Representatives of the Charities point out that this is the 'big day,' and students are urged to get in contact with agents of the Campaign at the university.

Appealing personally to the students, Malcolm Ransom says:

"The Student Campaign of the Federated Charities from the last day of the drive with barely one-half of its objective reached. At the same time the need this year is probably greater than ever before, with charitable organizations taxed to the limit as a result of the prolonged economic conditions.

We, as students, are a privileged class. To every privilege is attached a responsibility. It therefore behooves us to face the issue at this time and assume our responsibility in this respect. I look to you, McGill students, to make as generous a contribution as possible to the 11th Annual Appeal of the Federated Charities. Don't wait to be asked—bring your contribution in spontaneously. We cannot pass them by when they are counting on our support."

(Signed)
R. MALCOLM RANSOM,
Chairman Student
Collection Committee,
Committee List

For the convenience of students wishing to donate without being called upon personally, the following list of representatives is published. It is pointed out that Graduate Students can give their contributions to Mr. Fletcher, while B.V.C. collections are handled by Mrs. Murray. Bill Gentlemen is receiving contributions from Arts students. The Committee list follows:

Committee
President, R. Malcolm Ransom; Arts and Science, Arnold L. Johnson; Commerce, Walter Markham; Medicine, Murray McIntyre and George Lilley; Dentistry, Erol Clift; Law, Kenneth McNamee; Engineering, Jack Houghton; Architecture, H. Blatchford; Royal Victoria College, Deborah Barbour; Library School, Bert Hamilton; Graduate School, Ronald Leatham; Graduate Nurses, Miss Flint; School of Physical Education, Helen MacDonald; Theology, Keith MacKenzie; Publicity, John H. McDonald.

Speakers Address Christian Society

During this week there will be a series of meetings held under the auspices of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship at McGill in Divinity Hall, Room 5, at 5:00 p.m. The Dominion General Secretary, Stacey Woods, B.A., B.Th., will be the guest speaker on three occasions, W. S. Reid, B.A., and R. Lennox, B.A., speaking at the other two meetings.

Mr. Woods is a graduate of Evangelical Theological College, Dallas, Texas, and of Wheaton College, Ill. He has done much work among young people both in Australia, United States and Canada and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout at the meetings.

The programme for the week is as follows: Monday, Nov. 5, C. S. Woods; Tuesday, Nov. 6, R. Lennox; Wednesday, Nov. 7, C. S. Woods; Thursday, Nov. 8, W. S. Reid; Friday, Nov. 9, C. S. Woods.

Illustrated Address.
Dr. G. R. Lomer, librarian at McGill University will give an illustrated address to the Quebec Library Association at the Mechanics' Institute, Atwater Avenue on Monday next at 8:30. His subject will be "Lewis Carroll."

Freshmen Wanted In Revised Team Managing System

New Managerial Board Controls Whole System at McGill

The call has been sent out for freshmen for managerial positions under the new scheme. This scheme was devised by the Athletic Board in order to give the freshmen more scope in this particular field. A Managerial Board has recently been appointed to control the system.

Under the new system there will be three classes of managers, namely: Competitors, Assistant Managers and Managers. A management school will be formed. This school will teach all points relative to team management. Promotion will be based on tests and general efficiency. All awards will be made upon merit by the Managerial Board which consists of Lorne Gales, William P. Springer and John H. McDonald.

The new school is divided into three parts. The practical section deals with equipment and team. There is a section on general instruction and a section on office work relative to the Athletic Office. It is pointed out that freshmen who enroll now when successful will be Managers in their third year.

There will be a meeting in the McGill Union on Wednesday which all freshmen are urged to attend. The time is announced as five o'clock.

Visitors Will Take Negative Position In International Debate

Philip Vineberg and Mc-bourne Doig Represent
McGill

TICKETS SELLING FAST

Lack of Virility of Liberalism Chosen as Topic

Today McGill meets Oxford and Cambridge in the biggest debate of the season with the victory of 1933 behind her as a good omen for another success this year. The subject—"Resolved that Liberalism, though it yet speaketh, is dead"—is expected to attract all students whose interests lie in

CRITCHTON JACKSON

VINEBERG DOIG

(Continued on page 4)

Smoker Features Varied Program Tuesday Evening

Arts Undergrad Society
Promises Students Free
Smokes and Drinks

WHAT promises to be an ambitious and attractive get-together between the students of the different years, the "Razle Dazle," sponsored by the Arts Undergraduate Society, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday evening in the Union.

Free smokes, cats, orchestra, cocoa-cola, plays—these are but few of the attractions offered with a view to making the evening as interesting and entertaining as possible. Each Arts' Year is having a short, humorous skit prepared. Dr. Woodhead and Dean Johnson, both of whom have consented to address the students at the Razle Dazle, will be present.

The Arts smoker is a yearly event, the aim of which is to get the students of the different years better acquainted with one another. This year, however, it is taking the form of a "Razle Dazle," something more informal and entertaining than usual. All men students are invited, and it is hoped that a large number will be present.

This event is under the management of the Arts Undergraduate Society, the officers of which are: President, Arnold L. Johnson; Vice-President, John H. McDonald; Treasurer, Louis G. Johnson; Secretary, H. Parker Chesney; Freshman Adviser, Gordon H. Wilson.

Gridsters' Hopes Dashed As Tricolourites Win 8-4

Redmen Fumble Away Chance For Play-off Opportunity — Zvonkin Jumps on Fumble and Capitalizes With 35 Yard Run For Touchdown — Bud Ruschin Hoofs Smart Placement — Tommy Richert Registers Rouge With 50 Yard Punt

IN as ignoble a defeat as any McGill team has suffered within recent years, the more disappointing because for nearly the whole first half the Redmen looked like potential winners, Queen's dropped Shag Shaughnessy's squad right out of the 1934 intercollegiate race with an 8-4 win in Kingston on Saturday.

Watching Redmen Fade

By X. B. X.

HAVE you ever seen the newest recruit patted on the back by the grizzled sergeant-major; have you ever seen the rookie slipped a kind word by the chief coach? Well, if you have, folks, you know just how this correspondent looked on reading a letter written him by a certain downtown newspaperman. Hitherto we have penned this column with a certain lack of confidence; we have voiced our opinions with diffidence. But no longer. We have been informed that we are smart, that we have a great future. And this by a newspaperman who has been writing for almost as long a time as your present correspondent—or should we say "Operator."

WE understand from the highest sources that in a football column one should avoid all actual reference to the game which one is purporting to discuss. However, we are old fashioned and feel moreover that we owe a duty to our reading public, and therefore we shall descend from the higher realms of journalism to pen a note or two concerning the Queen's-McGill fracas so ably covered by Mr. Gruber in an adjacent column.

THE game was disappointing from all angles. The most ardent supporter of the Tricolour had little to boast of in the way of good football. The McGill supporters saw their team going through some smart drill which didn't net them the yards that it probably warranted. They saw McGill make more first downs than the natives and they saw them work themselves into some good positions only to throw away their chances with fumble after fumble.

RUSCHIN'S placement had the boys in the press-box, at least, holding onto their seats. From that particular angle it looked the dead spit of the famous goal-post play which lost McGill their game at Kingston last year. As it was the ball had less than 18 inches to spare as it went over the bar. Californian Ruschin has a long row to hoe in the Medical faculty and will be heard from every now and then in the years to come.

CALIFORNIAN SMITH had a sleight-of-hand performed on him toward the close of the last half when an exuberant Tricolour seized him by that delicate member and slung him out of bounds. Forward flipper Smith reappeared later on, all brand new.

A BUNCH of the boys was whooping it up around the town after the game. The graduates' dance at the gymnasium was highly popular and McGill yells were scattered all over the hall. The Tricolour boys proved good winners and forbore rubbing it in, making the out-of-town boys very welcome. The pubs close at eleven but that doesn't really seem to mean anything.

AND we can't close this column without a reference to the weather. It was much better than the football game.

St. James Society Has Annual Dinner

Tomorrow evening, the St. James Literary Society is holding their thirty-seventh annual dinner. During the evening many prominent speakers will be heard, among these: Hon. Wesley Frost, American Consul-General; Dr. Cyrus MacMillan, Head of the Department of English at McGill; and Mr. John Bird, associate-editor of the Montreal Daily Star. The dinner will be in the Prince of Wales Salon at the Windsor Hotel at 7:30 p.m.

Ruschin Place Kicks
Bud Ruschin sent McGill stock soaring towards the end of the first quarter when he lifted a beautiful placement from the Queen's 33 after Tom Richert had earlier hooped a soaring 50-yard punt over the opposition's goal-line, kicking with the wind. A series of ineffectual line bucks gained nothing for either team until the first Queen's break came when Richert, in one of his recurrent moods of poor judgment during the afternoon returned a Johnny Munro hoist out of touch behind the Red line after which point the score stood 4-1 for the Shagmen. Their early lead was well-earned, however, with every man along the line and on the secondary doing his job thoroughly, and further showing plenty of fight, as evidenced by the fact that Biffer Weir, having retaliated with his fists from a horizontal position on the line, was summarily sentenced by Referee Consiglio, among loud uncomplimentary huzzahs from the assemblage, to warm the penalty bench for the remainder of the game. The new deceptive Red offensive plays were working well behind the line, and in addition one forward was completing a Riddell to McLernon affair which netted 20 yards.

In the second quarter, Munro got to work with the wind on his side, and outkicked Richert and Joe Smith pretty consistently, aided by 25 yards worth of penalties which the Redmen inflicted upon themselves, various misdemeanours meeting with the disapproval of the officials. It was in this stanza that several glaring errors were committed by the McGill board of strategy and the works at large. In the first place, Johnny Munro, who had hitherto shown no ghost-like ball-carrying propensities, seemed to vanish every time he received a kick, to bob up five, ten, often fifteen yards from the point of receipt. It was obvious that the Red ends weren't getting down field fast enough. Then George Degan, who hadn't been doing much passing to speak of all season, faded back for a flip about half-way through the second stanza, and three charging Tricolour demons, led by burly Abe Zvonkin, smashed the Blonde Redman onto the turf, and the ball having bounded into his outstretched arms, Big Abe trotted over the line for the only touchdown Queen's has scored all year. Barnabe failed to convert. Later in the period he missed another drop kick, but the ball bounded out beyond the Red touch-line to put the Tricolour up 7-4.

Terrific Pace
The third quarter was fought at a terrific pace along the front ranks, with Stockwell and Ruschin being momentarily rendered incapable of carrying on for the visitors, while Edwards, Waugh and Munro felt the successive stings of a laterally-latent furious Red defence. A Queen's off-side penalty gave the Redmen another crack at the home team's goal-line, which they promptly failed to take advantage of, losing ground on a series of long-distance exchanges and McLernon's fumble on the McGill 23. At that stage, the Red line came back to its first-quarter form as twice in a row Barnabe's attempted drop-kicks were blocked. "Happy" Pierce recovered the second one at mid-field, at which point, following a profitable exchange of kicks, Smith elected to try another placement from the Tricolour 38, which fooled badly, as had his two previous attempts. Munro ran it out from behind his own line to the 15 while the Red ends stood in their tracks watching the flight of the ball. Making their last stand in the final quarter, McGill could do nothing in the face of persistent ground-gaining Tricolour plunges and some pretty ineffectual kicking by Richert and Smith, as well as a smashing tackle which jostled the leather out of McLernon's arms on the Red 10, Queen's recovering in a Seion at the Windsor Hotel at 7:30 p.m.

(Continued on page 4)

FEDERATED CHARITIES RETURNS

Faculty	Objective	Collected To Date	Same Date Last Year	P.C.
Theology	$ 60.00	76.65	29.25	126.
Graduate Nurses	25.00	31.00	23.00	124.
Commerce	140.00	108.00	140.33	79.
Architecture	45.00	31.00	24.65	68.
R. V. C.	360.00	219.40	288.85	61.
Library School	20.00	12.00	11.00	60.
Law	75.00	43.55	80.30	58.
Engineering	275.00	157.00	122.95	57.
Medicine	350.00	125.23	119.60	35.
Arts & Science	465.00	142.90	180.00	30.
Graduate School	125.00	36.00	37.55	29.
M. S. P. E.	15.00	3.00	2.55	20.
Dentistry	45.00	6.00	9.00	13.
Totals	$2,000.00	991.63	1,069.03	49.5

Junior Debaters In Role Of Governors Ban Hazing Today

Conferring in an extra meeting, the Junior Debating League this afternoon discusses the future of hazing at McGill. The meeting, which is to be held in the form of a mock Board of Governors' session, will take place as usual in the Music Room of the Union at four o'clock, and will be a substitute for last week's debate, which was unfortunately postponed.

Participating in the proceedings, which will be under the chairmanship of Allan Anderson, will be those persons who took part in the Bovey Shield Contest, and other prospective members of the League. To make the affair more interesting, it is announced that two sides will be formed, and while still resembling the form of an impartial debate, in reality the discussion will be directed by two men who will assume the leadership of the negative and affirmative arguments, the subject in general being "Resolved that any return to Hazing would be detrimental to the best interests of this University."

The business postponed from last week dealing with the appointment of an honorary president and with the selection of representatives in debates which are to be held in the near future will be conducted, and decisions taken as to the attitude of the meeting towards various enterprises on the planned schedule for the year.

A part of the Music Room will be set aside for an audience, and the executive states that the meeting will be a short one, lasting possibly an hour. The business of the meeting will be held after the debate. The executive also requests any individuals interested in debating to turn out, as a membership list will be drawn up.

Many Plans Made For Tea Dansant After Rugby Game

Affair Takes Place Following
McGill-Varsity Game
Saturday

Arrangements are being made for a tea dansant which will take place in the Union Reading Room following the McGill-Varsity rugby game next Saturday. This dance, the first of its kind this year, will be a novel attraction due to the unusual items which have been planned by the committee in charge.

The reading room will be artistically decorated, and will provide a homelike setting for the occasion. The price of admission has not yet been decided, but it will not exceed one dollar. A feature of the dance is that all those who attend will be expected to wear either McGill or Toronto colours. The orchestra has not yet been selected, but one of the popular campus bands will supply the music.

The Union House committee is expending every effort to make this dance a success, and promises a novel and pleasing program. The members of the committee are: President, Donald Small; vice-president, Hollie McHugh; secretary, John McDonald.

Conservatorium Club Holds First Meeting

The inaugural meeting for this year, of the Conservatorium Club, was held last Friday night. There was a turnout of about forty, and with Muriel Johnson, the president of the Club, in the chair. The Club was entertained by an enjoyable musical program. This included two violin solos, a piano solo by Noel Brunet, and a song by Godfrey.

(Continued on page 4)

McGill Daily

THE OLDEST COLLEGE DAILY IN CANADA
Published every week-day during the college year at 300 Sherbrooke St. West, Telephone Lancaster 7143
Opinions expressed below are those of the Managing Board of the McGill Daily and not the official opinions of the Students' Society

LINDSAY H. PLACE Editor-in-Chief
ALLISON A. M. WATSON Managing Editor
JOHN A. NOLAN News Editor
H. BRODIE HICKS Sports Editor
G. H. FLETCHER Advertising Manager
ASSOCIATE EDITORS
Features Morton Bloomfield
Exchanges Reuben Friedman '35
A. Styles '35 John H. McDonald '36
P. F. Vineberg '35 L. Picard '36
W. M. Charnard '35 A. Gruber '36
I. Hyams '36 D. G. Amaron '36
M. Goldfine '35

IN CHARGE OF THIS ISSUE
NEWS John H. McDonald
SPORTS I. Hyams
REPORTERS
D. E. Entwistle, C. Slobodsky, G. Wasserman,
P. Stapells, R. Swinton, A. Marcus, P. Price, H. P. Lorimer, MacRansom.

Vol. XXIV—Mon., Nov. 5, 1934—No. 25

The New Managerial Board

IT is with interest that we note the Athletic Office's announcement of the new Managerial Board to control the managers of the athletic teams of the University. For a number of years the management of teams has been on an unsatisfactory footing. This new board consisting of three men will have absolute control of the training, promotion and awards of the Managers. This power becomes effective immediately, but it will take a number of years of co-operation to get a smoothly working system.

Naturally it is expected that the existing Managers and Assistant Managers will co-operate with the new board. However, before any great progress can be made it is essential that the Freshman class participate in this reorganized activity. The call has been made for fifty Freshmen to train as Managers. Naturally all those who apply will not be accepted, but of those whose qualifications are satisfactory a number will be chosen to receive special instruction in Managerial work.

At the end of the year the report on each of these "competitors" will be considered and those found satisfactory will be promoted to Assistant Manager. The Assistant Managers will be assigned to some sport and at the end of their second year in college, if their work has been done well, will be promoted to the position of Manager.

The Managerial Board consists of three men; Lorne Gales, President of the Students' Society and former Captain of the McGill Rowing Club; William P. Sprenger, former Captain of the McGill Swimming Club, and John H. McDonald, former Manager of the McGill Track Club.

A meeting of Freshmen has been called for Wednesday at five o'clock in the Union to discuss this matter and select "Competers" to receive instruction in Managerial Work. It is to be hoped that fifty men of the first year classes will turn up as only by the co-operation of the Freshmen with the new Board will it be possible to organize this system upon a sound basis.

The question of managers was discussed at great length last session and a special committee was formed to look into the matter. A report was turned in which advised this method of control and now the new board has been appointed. This organization is not peculiar to McGill for in many colleges in the States such systems exist. The position of Manager is usually sought after, but only trained men should be allowed to participate in this work for it often involves a great deal of responsibility. It has been shown by statistics that the Manager in most sports devotes more time to athletics than the other members of the team.

It is gratifying to see the matter being taken under control in this manner, and we hope the new Board will see fit to make a suitable system of awards to managers.

The Debate

THIS evening at eight-fifteen the English Debating Team from Oxford and Cambridge will meet a picked team from McGill in an event which should be one of the highlights of the season. Doubtless many of our readers will recollect the last occasion on which an English team came to McGill, and although McGill won, it was an extremely close decision.

This year the event is being held in Moyse Hall, in order that as many people as possible will be able to be accommodated, for not only students but also outsiders are heartily welcome. As most people appreciate the fact that it is easier to speak before a crowded hall, than one which is only half-filled we hope that as many students as can do so will be present to welcome the visiting debaters and to give them a real opportunity to show what they can do. Unfortunately it has been found necessary to charge the small admission fee of twenty-five cents per person to help cover expenses, because the Debating Union has found itself unable otherwise to make ends meet. We sincerely trust that this will not prevent anyone from coming.

It is needless for us to remind our readers of the outstanding ability of Mc-Gill's own team of Melbourne Doig and Phillip Vineberg. These two debaters have gained most of their debating skill and knowledge right at college, and both of them have participated in mock parliaments, college debates, and numerous intercollegiate contests. It will also be well remembered that Melbourne Doig very successfully defended the attitude taken by the Daily Staff several years ago in the troubles they had with the Members of the Students' Council.

The English team has come to us very highly recommended—debating has been on a very high par at Oxford and Cambridge for many years—and these two gentlemen, Robertson Crichton, and Leslie Jackson are said to be among the most outstanding. Therefore while we feel confident that McGill will be represented in an able and worthy manner, we feel very chary of predicting who the winner will be. In any case, may the best team win.

SAGA SHADOWS

The story, fundamentally, is purely an account or recital of facts or fantasies. Originally, it did not concern itself with such abstractions as character sketches, or propaganda, or even the moral rights and wrongs of humanity, factors which powerfully influence story-telling today. A story was a story, and appreciated as such. We have to our loss fled from that standard today.

As a good example of a tale depicts a phase of human life, with little attention directed to the individual, but which still retains the allure of interest indigenous and natural, we feature the following little story of the futile desire of woman and the drabness of man. It is a story which echoes true as we scan the world around us. . . .

Dream Come True

MARY was about thirty-five or so, somewhat plump, blonde hair slightly graying, definite lines forming about the mouth and eyes; but she did not realize this. What woman does? It was ten years since she had been married, years that seemed to have flown as if on wings. Washing dishes, dusting, putting things in place took up the hours, the days and months fully. Of course, in the process her hands grew rather rough and red but a dozen brands of sticky hand lotions partially remedied the condition. There were remedies for the streaks of gray in her hair; and as for the lines in her face, what were beauty parlors for?

She relieved the monotony of the daily round by taking occasional trips, but they were short and limited in scope; New York City in the winter-time and some vacation resort in the summer. But when in spite of this, her loneliness grew greater, she took spiritual refuge in reliving in her imagination the scenes of her youth. Last night, for instance, she had dreamt that she was again a young girl; again she was walking in the rose-scented garden, while in the distance the strains of an orchestra made the night seem even more enchanting. She was walking with Harold, her first sweetheart. How tall, handsome and full of life he seemed! What grand plans for the future they had made, in which both were to share! But that was all past and gone. Like most first lovers they had parted and each had gone their own way.

Suddenly Mary awoke, and found that she had only been dreaming. It was late morning, time to get the breakfast ready. Hurriedly she dressed and set the table. But she was only partly awake. In the midst of her musing she was suddenly brought to earth by the querulous voice of her husband,

"Mary, pass the bread."
A sudden feeling of resentment came over her. How could he be so prosaic and inconsiderate? She looked at him. In the cold and harsh light of morning his face was haggard, his eyes and pouches beneath them, his head showed suspicious signs of growing baldness. Was this the young man whom she had once considered attractive and winning? Oh, for a chance to relive some of the incidents of her youth! Again to see Harold! How they would talk over old times, what amusing little incidents over which they would laugh! The intervening years would be bridged over.

For a time it seemed that Mary would not be able to do anything, in spite of longings which grew stronger as the years passed by. Every cloud, however, has a silver lining, as they say. Five years more passed by; times were growing more prosperous (this was before the depression) and Mary got her long-awaited wish . . . to make a transcontinental tour, by herself.

Mary visited California. She swam in the sun-dipped waters of the Pacific, she danced under the moon-kissed palms of the hotel terrace. What if her step was not so light and buoyant as that of a young person? Neither was that of her middle-aged partner!

Mary next visited Yellowstone National Park, and marvelled at its natural beauties—its wonderful geysers that shot up a hundred feet or so into the air, showing a myriad of colours. She visited Chicago, saw the famed Gold Coast with its palatial residences, the Lakeshore, with its magnificent hotels. All good things, however, must come to an end, as Mary realized. She had been away from home for over two months and it was time for her to return.

The train stopped off at K—, to take on some passengers and baggage, when suddenly, Mary reminded herself that this was the town where Harold, her old flame, had been living for the last few years. Surely she was not going to miss this chance of seeing him, a chance that might never come again! What if it was a last-minute plan! What if it was early morning? None of these things mattered. Summoning the porter, Mary had her travelling bag put down on the station platform while she also stepped down.

Searching in her hand-bag, Mary located the little book in which were the addresses of various people she knew, including that of Harold. Seeing nothing better, she summoned a taxicab driver with a car of dubious vintage, and gave him the address. Looking at it, the driver drawled, "Wal, I reckon it's about a mile or two from here but I'll take ye, Ma'am."

The ride itself was none too comfortable, what with the bumps on the roads and the seeming absence of springs in the car. After what seemed to Mary an interminable time, they stopped before a somewhat ramshackle, brownstone little place and alighted.

"Reckon that's the place ye'll be wantin'", said the driver.

Mary walked up the few stairs and rang the bell. A little woman of non-descript appearance answered the door. Somewhat taken aback, Mary managed to stammer,

"Is Harold . . . er . . . I mean, Mr. Brownley, home?"

Giving her one of those appraising looks the woman answered,

"Yes, would you come in and sit down, please?"

Mary was led into a little reception hall; she sat down in a brown velvet, overstuffed chair. For awhile she waited, while the odour of frying ham and eggs permeated the house. Could this little woman be Harold's wife? Mary did not want to believe this, hated to think he was married. Suddenly she realized that directly in the line of vision was the little kitchen—and at the table was seated a man of about middle age—paunch-faced, almost bald-headed, lines under his eyes, his clothes crinkled. Could this be Harold? No, it was impossible, too cruel and disillusioning. And yet, though the facial expression was changed, the face itself was the same—the eyes, the shape of nose and mouth, and yes, a little mole on the chin. Mary felt as if she had been struck by lightning. She longed to fly, fly from the shattered bits of hopes and dreams that lay at her feet. As she debated what to do, she heard Harold's voice call out querulously,

"Jane, pass the bread."

—G. W.

BEHIND The SCENES

TO THE theatrical patron viewing a stage presentation from his more or less comfortable seat, the life of the stage people seems glamorous. As he hears the beautiful, full-throated notes of the operatic tenor, as he sees the graceful, lithe ballerina dancing with such apparent ease and abandon, he imagines that these people are immune from the daily grinding work of the average person, immune from the mundane petty things in his existence. But let that spectator go back-stage, and he will immediately realize that it was only an illusion. That, at least, was the experience of the writer. Having viewed a presentation of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, which for sheer beauty, could hardly be surpassed, the writer decided to visit backstage. Accordingly, about half-an-hour before the end of the performance, the scribe slipped in through the side stage entrance.

Opening a somewhat rickety wooden door, there came in view a room practically littered with ropes, trunks, boxes, and a thousand other details. Part of the stage crew was lounging nonchalantly; while a dancer whose turn was to come later was practicing the steps to the music of "The Blue Danube" that was being played out front. The writer cautiously moved toward the wings whence everything that was going on on the stage could be easily seen.

It was a duet, to which a young man and woman were dancing ever so gracefully. As she literally soared into the air, light as a bird, as she flashed her brilliant smile, a spectator in the audience might have thought that it was child's play to her. And yet, the minute she got into the wings she ran almost frantically to her room, gasping for breath, her face very tired, almost exhausted-looking. The next minute or so, the whole chorus appeared on the stage; the same dual expression could be observed by those in the wings. Facing the audience their smiles flashed brilliantly. The minute they looked toward the wings, it changed immediately, and they looked just tired, tired people wishing that the music might end.

The performance ended they crowded into the dressing rooms, chattering briskly, hurrying to change, for they were leaving for New York within a few minutes. Once the stage makeup was off, the fancy stage costumes changed to street ones, the change in appearance was startling. In their, ordinary sports suits and sweaters, with berets on their heads, these little girls looked very much like those of our high schools, only with far less makeup on, and with manners far more simple and affected. Most of them appeared very young indeed, not more than between sixteen and eighteen years of age. Several of them were accompanied by their mothers, simple, unaffected Russian women—most of the troupe are Russian.

Speaking to one of the Ballerinas, the writer asked,

"How do you like Montreal? I suppose that after the other capitals you visited it appears rather small?"

"Oh, no," was the reply: "In fact the crowds seems large indeed; moreover, everyone has been most kind to us. We like it very much."

"Is the life of a dancer hard?"

"Yes," was the reply. "Particularly when we are on the road, travelling from city to city. We generally give two performances, one matinee and one at night; and immediately afterward we hurry to the train . . . travelling all night to the next city. It is very tiring. We stay a long time in New York, but the rest of the time we are always on the go, travelling all over the world. We work eleven months in the year, so you can see we get very little rest."

"I see that you speak French very well," the writer commented.

"Well, we all learn that language."

All ready to leave for the station, one saw at first hand that that movie version of crime-coated, bejewelled exotic dancers was, generally speaking, twaddle. The fur coats worn by a few were very modest indeed. Presently a young man, one of the company, entered, asking them to hurry. Tall, and rather lanky, he looked very much the ordinary senior high school boy, or college freshman. He spoke English well, though there was a slight foreign accent; but it sounded rather pleasant to the ear.

And so an interesting evening was at an end, and the writer had seen this side of life infinitely interesting. Several days passed, but the atmosphere of paint, cream, powder and other make-up still lingers.

MOVIE REVIEW

Capitol Theatre
IMMENSELY touching by its human account of a truly human, and almost too perfect, character, the screen version of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" amply justifies its excellent adaptation from Alice Rice's immortal novel. Pauline Lord, who felt at home in her difficult role not only because of her former renderings of the same characterization on Broadway but also because of her outstanding dramatic ability, portrayed Mrs. Wiggs with admirable finesse and delicacy. Despite its exaggerated sentimentality and over-romanticized plot, the picture could not fail to impress the most cynical critic. In addition to these features of the screen version, comedy relief was supplied by W. C. Fields and Zasu Pitts with the romantic element by Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor.

A highly extravagant and almost fantastic effort was "The Gift of the Gab," the added attraction, in which Edmund Lowe and Gloria Stuart feature amid a glamorous cast of over thirty radio and screen stars.

M.J.G. & P.J.

Palace Theatre

Bruce Lockhart wrote "British Agent," a few years ago, telling of his experience in Russia during the hectic days of the Kerensky Government and the Revolution. The book was an immediate success and was sold for film rights to Hollywood. The result is to be seen on the screen of the Palace theatre this week. Although not a faithful transcript of the book by any means, the film is an extraordinarily fine motion picture, enlivened by the introduction of many historical characters, under thin disguises or none at all, such as Lloyd George, Lenin and Trotsky. The story moves at a rapid out. The only disappointment is the pace and holds the attention throughout which is rather conventional. Some of the scenes are very stirring and etch themselves on the mind. Leslie Howard turns in a polished performance. Kay Francis and Irving Pichel present satisfactory portrayals. "Desirable," the second feature, is not much above the ordinary, but is somewhat entertaining. There is an excellent Cartoon and News on the program.

M. W. E.

Princess Theatre

The Princess Theatre has undoubtedly brought to the Montreal Screen this week-end one of the most entertaining pictures seen here for some time. Hundreds were unable to find seats on Saturday for the premiere showing of the Gaumont British production Chu-Chin Chow, which combines the better features of the stage version together with the wider scope offered by photography.

Technically and artistically as near perfection as any picture has yet reached, Chu-Chin Chow appeals to those who appreciate high class entertainment, good music, excellent singing and adequate settings. Each member of the large cast of well known actors plays a character role which, to say the least, is entirely convincing. George Robey as Ali Baba; Annie May Wong as Zahrat; the slave girl, and Fritz Kortner as Abu Hassan are most prominent, but the credit which reflects on the clever interpretation of their parts is equally shared by the others.

The second feature at the Princess, "Cuckoo in the Nest," brings Ralph Lynn and Tom Walls back to Montreal. This witty farce of Ben Travers, who writes most of the plays for this popular British comedy team, is up to the usual standard of humor and provides enough laughs for even the most depressed college student. One must admit that the entertainment at this theatre this week gives more than an adequate return on one's investment.

R. L. M. P.

Somerville Lecture By Dr. A. Willey

The Somerville lecture in Natural History, this year, is to be given by Dr. Arthur Willey, Emeritus Professor of Zoology, and former chairman of the department at McGill. Dr. Willey has chosen as his subject "Adaptation in Nature and in Art," the address to be given on Friday, November 23, at 8.30 p.m. in Moyse Hall.

These lectures are an annual feature, having been made possible by an endowment of £1,000, the gift of Mr. James Somerville, an ardent student of Natural History. Through his generosity a lectureship was founded by the Natural History Society of Montreal, and when the society was dissolved, the annual lectures were nevertheless continued under the auspices of the Faculty of Graduate Studies at McGill. Portions of the museum collection which formerly belonged to the society are now to be seen in the Strathcona Ethnological Museum in the Medical Building.

POWER'S RINTERY

Limited

All That the Name Implies

SERVICE

362 Notre Dame W.
Opposite Royal Bank
1st Floor Orkin Bldg.
H.A. 6535

PICOBAC- AND A PIPE OF PEACE!

"I've smoked all kinds of pipes and all kinds of tobacco, in my time. But now I'm settled down. I know what I want. I stick to PicoBac."

"You see you get the taste for Burley, nothing else gives you the same peace and satisfaction."

"But mind you, PicoBac is no ordinary Burley. PicoBac is an improved Burley, grown from improved seed, on special soil, and cultivated according to up-to-date ideas. PicoBac's the pick of Canada's Burley crop, grown in sunny southern Ontario."

"If you want to feel peaceful and good-natured after supper tonight just buy PicoBac and settle down for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke."

"And don't forget, you get more tobacco for your money. Good for making cigarettes, too."

NEW SEAL-TIGHT POUCH 15¢
HANDY POCKET TIN 10¢
ALSO IN 1/4-POUND "LOK-TOP" TINS

IT DOES TASTE GOOD IN A PIPE!

Picobac

GROWN IN SUNNY SOUTHERN ONTARIO

WE FORWARD PASS VALUE TO YOU!

WINTER O'COATS

$20 up

1447 MCGILL COLLEGE AVENUE

1
4
4
7

McGill College Ave.

1
4
4
7

McGill College Ave.

McGILL STUDENTS BE SURE TO ASK FOR

Gurd's

Dry Ginger Ale
Gurd's Beverages have been the choice in University Circles for 64 years.

HIGHEST QUALITY

COAL — COKE — FUEL OIL

FARQUHAR ROBERTSON

LIMITED

360 Notre Dame St. W. MARquette 1245

MEETING

of
THE CANADIAN CLUB OF MONTREAL
MONDAY, 5th NOVEMBER, 1934
at
ONE O'CLOCK P.M. in
THE WINDSOR HOTEL

The Guest of honour will be
B. K. SANDWELL, B.A., F.R.S.C.

Subject:
"SOME OBSOLETE IDEAS ON LIBERTY"

Mr. Sandwell has had wide experience in newspaper and academic fields and is well-known for his ability on the platform to which he brings an exceedingly well informed mind and a keen sense of humour. For some years he was dramatic editor of the Montreal Herald and later editor of the Montreal Financial Times; from 1919-23 he was assistant Professor of Economics at McGill and in 1923 he went to Queen's University as head of the English Department, following which he became editor of the Toronto Saturday Night, a position which he now holds.

A limited number of tickets for this meeting will be on sale at the office of the Secretary of the Students' Society in the McGill Union until 11.00 a.m. Monday, Nov. 5, 1934.

PRICE $1.00

Soccer Squad Wins Championship

Soccer Squad Annexes Title By 3-0 Victory

R.M.C. Cadets Downed at Kingston 3-0 — Previous Win Over Varsity Gives Redmen Championship For First Time in Three Years

COACH HAY FINLAY'S senior soccer squad regained title honours in the senior intercollegiate series on Saturday when the McGill boys turned in a somewhat easy win over R.M.C. Cadets by a 3-0 score. As McGill had trimmed Varsity by the only goal of a hard-fought game two weeks ago the championship returned to Montreal after a three year sojourn in Toronto.

Not At Best
Saturday's match did not see the McGill squad at its best and although it held the upper hand throughout, the local team was very slow in scoring the all important goals. It was not until after the resumption of play in the second period that the McGill forwards made certain of victory.

McGill's first goal came in the first ten minutes of play when Tony Cahusac, replacing Frank Cooper in the centre-forward berth, dented the twine with a hard shot from the 18 yard mark. McGill continued to press throughout the first half and narrowly missed goals on three or four occasions, Twigg, the Soldiers' custodian, saving shots that looked unstoppable.

Combination Play
After change of halves, however, the score became a little more indicative of the play. McGill's second goal was the result of a pretty combination play. A Minion-to-Innis-to-Cahusac-to-Nolan play saw the latter drive in a shot from close range that caught Twigg flat-footed, without an earthly chance of saving.

From then on it was all McGill and only loose work offensively on the part of the Red forwards kept the score down. Nolan who had changed positions with Cahusac missed several golden opportunities with the defense at his mercy.

Capitalize Free Kick
McGill's third goal was the result of a free kick inside the penalty area. Twigg, the Cadets' goal-tender, had a foul called against his unorthodox style of clearance, and on the resulting play George Owen, McGill's blonde centre-half, made no mistake with the opportunity offered and put the outcome beyond all doubt with the third goal of the day.

The McGill squad Saturday was slightly different from that which wrested the honours from Varsity two weeks ago. Jimmy Harkness was playing at fullback, the old knee injury having been successfully treated in the interval, whilst Cooper was forced to

Harriers Prepare For Intercollegiate Meet At Queen's

McGILL'S hardy harriers will have their turn next Saturday when they defend their championship in the annual Intercollegiate Meet at Kingston. Coach Van Wagner has announced his team, which will compete against Queen's, Varsity, R.M.C., and O.A.C. Ray, Stote, who heads the team, finished sixth in the 1932 race, but was an absentee last year. Vern Crowley is the only member of last year's team who is competing next week. The other members of the five-man squad include Terry Todd, intermediate three mile champ, Colin Cam, and Ben Schecter. The selection was based on a trial run held on Saturday morning, which was won by Stote in the good time of 32 minutes.

SPORTS NOTICES

SQUASH RACQUETS

A Squash Racquets match has been arranged with an undergraduate team from Hart House, Toronto. Will all players who would like to play in this match on Saturday morning, Nov. 10th, please get in touch with Gear McIntyre at FI. 9035 as soon as possible.

WRESTLING

Wrestling practices are held in the Montreal High gym Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 5 to 6 o'clock. No previous experience is necessary, and anyone interested is urged to put in an appearance at once.

BOXING

Boxing practices are being held in the Montreal High gymnasium from 5 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Coach Bert Light is giving classes in physical exercise as well, and urges all interested to turn out.

FENCING CLUB

All those interested in fencing are requested to attend a meeting today at 5.15 p.m., at the M.H.S. quarters of the club.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Practices will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at five in the Montreal High Gym for members of last year's teams and candidates from Medicine and the Graduate School. All other candidates will turn out Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5.30 o'clock. Please note the change in the hour.

Hockey

Hockey hours at the Forum:
Mondays—5-6.
Tuesdays—1.30-2.30.
Wednesdays—1.30-2.30.
Thursdays—1.30-2.30.
Fridays—5-6.
Saturdays—12.00-1.00.

FOOTBALL

All footballers who drew equipment and took lockers in the Field House but are no longer actively participating with the squads must turn in their equipment and their lockers at once to some member of the Field House staff or to their team manager as it is still recorded against them.

M.W.S.A.A. BADMINTON

The lists for the badminton tournament will be taken down at noon tomorrow. If there are any members who have not signed the lists either in the Common Room or at R.V.C. and wish to enter the tournament, will they please do so at once.

GYMNASTS

Gymnasts are asked to turn out on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5.00 o'clock in the Montreal High Gym, University Street. Coach Hay Finlay emphasizes the fact that no previous

(Continued on page 4)

Cap'n. Meiklejohn

The Wisconsin Whiz turned in a beaut of a game at guard and did some husky bumping.

Basketeers Prepare For Annual Vermont Invasion Next Month

Rebuilt Squad Hard at Practice — Newcomers Try For Berths

GRADS PLAN TEAM

Friday's cage drill produced a large turnout, with most of last year's intermediates in the court, including Wilson, Seriver, Greenblatt, Boyd, Levites, Conklin and Corrigan. Owing to the demobilization of the seniors through graduation, some of these men are slated to fill the shoes vacated by Lewin, Faulkner, Ross and Silverman. The latter is ineligible this year. Marty Bowes was the only senior man on the scene Friday, but Captain Don Small and Gene Gormley were out last Wednesday and are expected to be on hand at today's practice. Don Young, regular centre, will not be out until football finishes.

Of the newcomers, two men stand out as material for the first squad, namely Brown and Schneere, Brown, centre for Queen's last year, and now in the McGill Graduate School, is trying for a forward or centre berth. Schneere, formerly of Western Reserve, Cleveland, is also out for a place on the forward line. Another potential star is Ralph Huff, who hails from Amherst, for a game with the local college, and will take on University of Vermont the following evening at Burlington. The Redmen have played Middlebury only once before, but the series with the U. of Vermont has been an annual fixture for several years. Last season the Mountaineers won out on their own court, but bowed to McGill, 20-19, in the local encounter. Red basketball fans will be interested

(Continued on page 4)

Poloists Clash With Y.M.H.A. Outfits at Knights of Columbus

IN tonight's water polo clashes both senior and junior teams play the return games of last Wednesday's encounters with Y.M.H.A. The Reds will meet the "Y" in their own home pool, the Knights of Columbus Mountain St. bath, and with this added advantage in favour of the Redmen the outcome should be different. The junior game will begin at 8.30 p.m. while the senior tilt comes as the nightcap of the double bill.

The Blue seniors had an easy time in last week's game against a McGill team which played far below its usual form. Although Jim Worrall put in a great performance in the Red line-up, the absence of Bob Freeman, in whose place he was playing, was keenly felt. With Freeman back and the contest taking place in the Red domicile, George Vickerson's boys are primed to take the Dominion champs.

Juniors Strong

The juniors have, as yet, tasted defeat only once and they seem to be the team to beat. They severely trounced the Y.M.H.A. mermen last week and are out to duplicate the performance tonight. Much the same team as that which was victorious in the Mount Royal Avenue tank will start tonight and, with the "Y" line-up similar, the issue should never be in doubt.

The Line-ups

McGill:
Senior: Wayland, goal; Skinner, Shragovitch, def.; Shapiro, half; Bourne, centre; Freeman, McLean, forwards.

Junior: Gilmour, goal; Percy, Olker, def.; Smythe, half; Wilson, centre; Elliott, Savage, forwards.

Interfaculty Football

Mon. 5—Commerce vs. Arts.
Tues. 6—Medicine vs. Macdonald on Campus
Wed. 7—Law vs. Engineering.
Thurs. 8—Medicine vs. Commerce.
Fri. 9—Engineering vs. Macdonald.
All games will start at 2.45 p.m.

Senior Hockey Team Defeats Verdun Leafs

Win by Count of 3-2 — Duff and McKay Score in Final Minutes of Game — Crutchfield Scores First McGill Counter — Meiklejohn, Morse, and McHugh Sparkle — Brunet Stars For Leafs

OUTPLAYED and outscored for more than two thirds of the game, McGill's senior hockey team rose to championship heights in the third period of Saturday's contest with Verdun and defeated the Maple Leafs by the score of 3 to 2. In the first game of the double-header Royals won from Canadiens 4-2.

In the nightcap, Verdun held a lead of 2-1 with less than a minute and a half to play and the fans were beginning to file out of their seats when the Redmen put on one of the most sensational comebacks that has been witnessed in senior league games in years. Gordie Crutchfield who had scored McGill's first goal early in the second period started a rush from centre ice, passing the puck to Rolly Lamb at the Leaf blue line. Lamb moved in on the Verdun defence and then passed back to Alex Duff who had skated in from left wing, the blond speedster made no mistake as he rifled the tying goal past Martel.

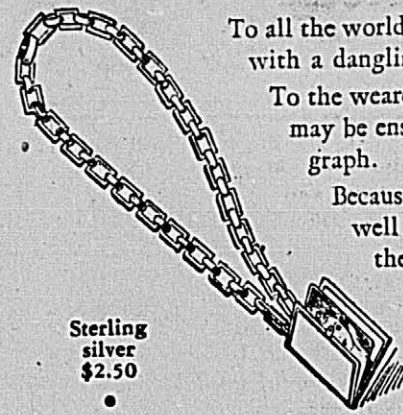

Not satisfied with a draw, and inspired by the sudden turn of fortune, the Redmen pressed in on the Verdun defence continually. Four men rushed up the ice, Meiklejohn alone holding down the defence. With thirty-five seconds to play, Cliff McKay broke in from nowhere and won the game for McGill with a beautifully placed corner shot. In the remaining few seconds of play Verdun almost tied the score again, as Holly McHugh was forced to kick out three shots in succession. One of these glanced off his stick and struck the goal post, while the other two called for equally sensational saves. The final bell was not heard by any of the players and the game continued for several seconds before either team realized that it was over.

Verdun Open Score

Verdun opened the score in the first period when Ethier's shot passed over McHugh's shoulder and into the net. Gordon Crutchfield tied the game a minute after the start of the second session after a brilliant three-man burst College. Huff turned out for a

(Continued on page 4)

LOCKET BRACELET

To all the world—a smart link bracelet with a dangle charm.
To the wearer, a souvenir in which may be enshrined a prized photograph.
Because of its sentiment, as well as its chic, we prophesy these locket bracelets will adorn many, many wrists.

Sterling silver $2.50

Sterling chain enamelled locket $3.50

A VOGUE IN THE BEGINNING

BIRKS
Diamond Merchants

Buying a Fortune by Instalments

That's what life insurance really is. But with this great difference from other forms of instalment purchase:—
It is never below par.
It is always increasing in value.
It is never out of style.
It requires no supervision.
It is never replaced by "something better".
It is readily negotiable.
It is not subject to repossession (the greatest difference of all).

The title passes to the insured with his first payment—and if he dies after payment of only one or any number of instalments, the entire "property"—unimpaired and unencumbered—passes to his dependents.

"Better to have insurance a hundred years and not need it than to need it for the moment and not have it."—Lord Strathcona.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

HEAD OFFICE: MONTREAL

It's Surprising

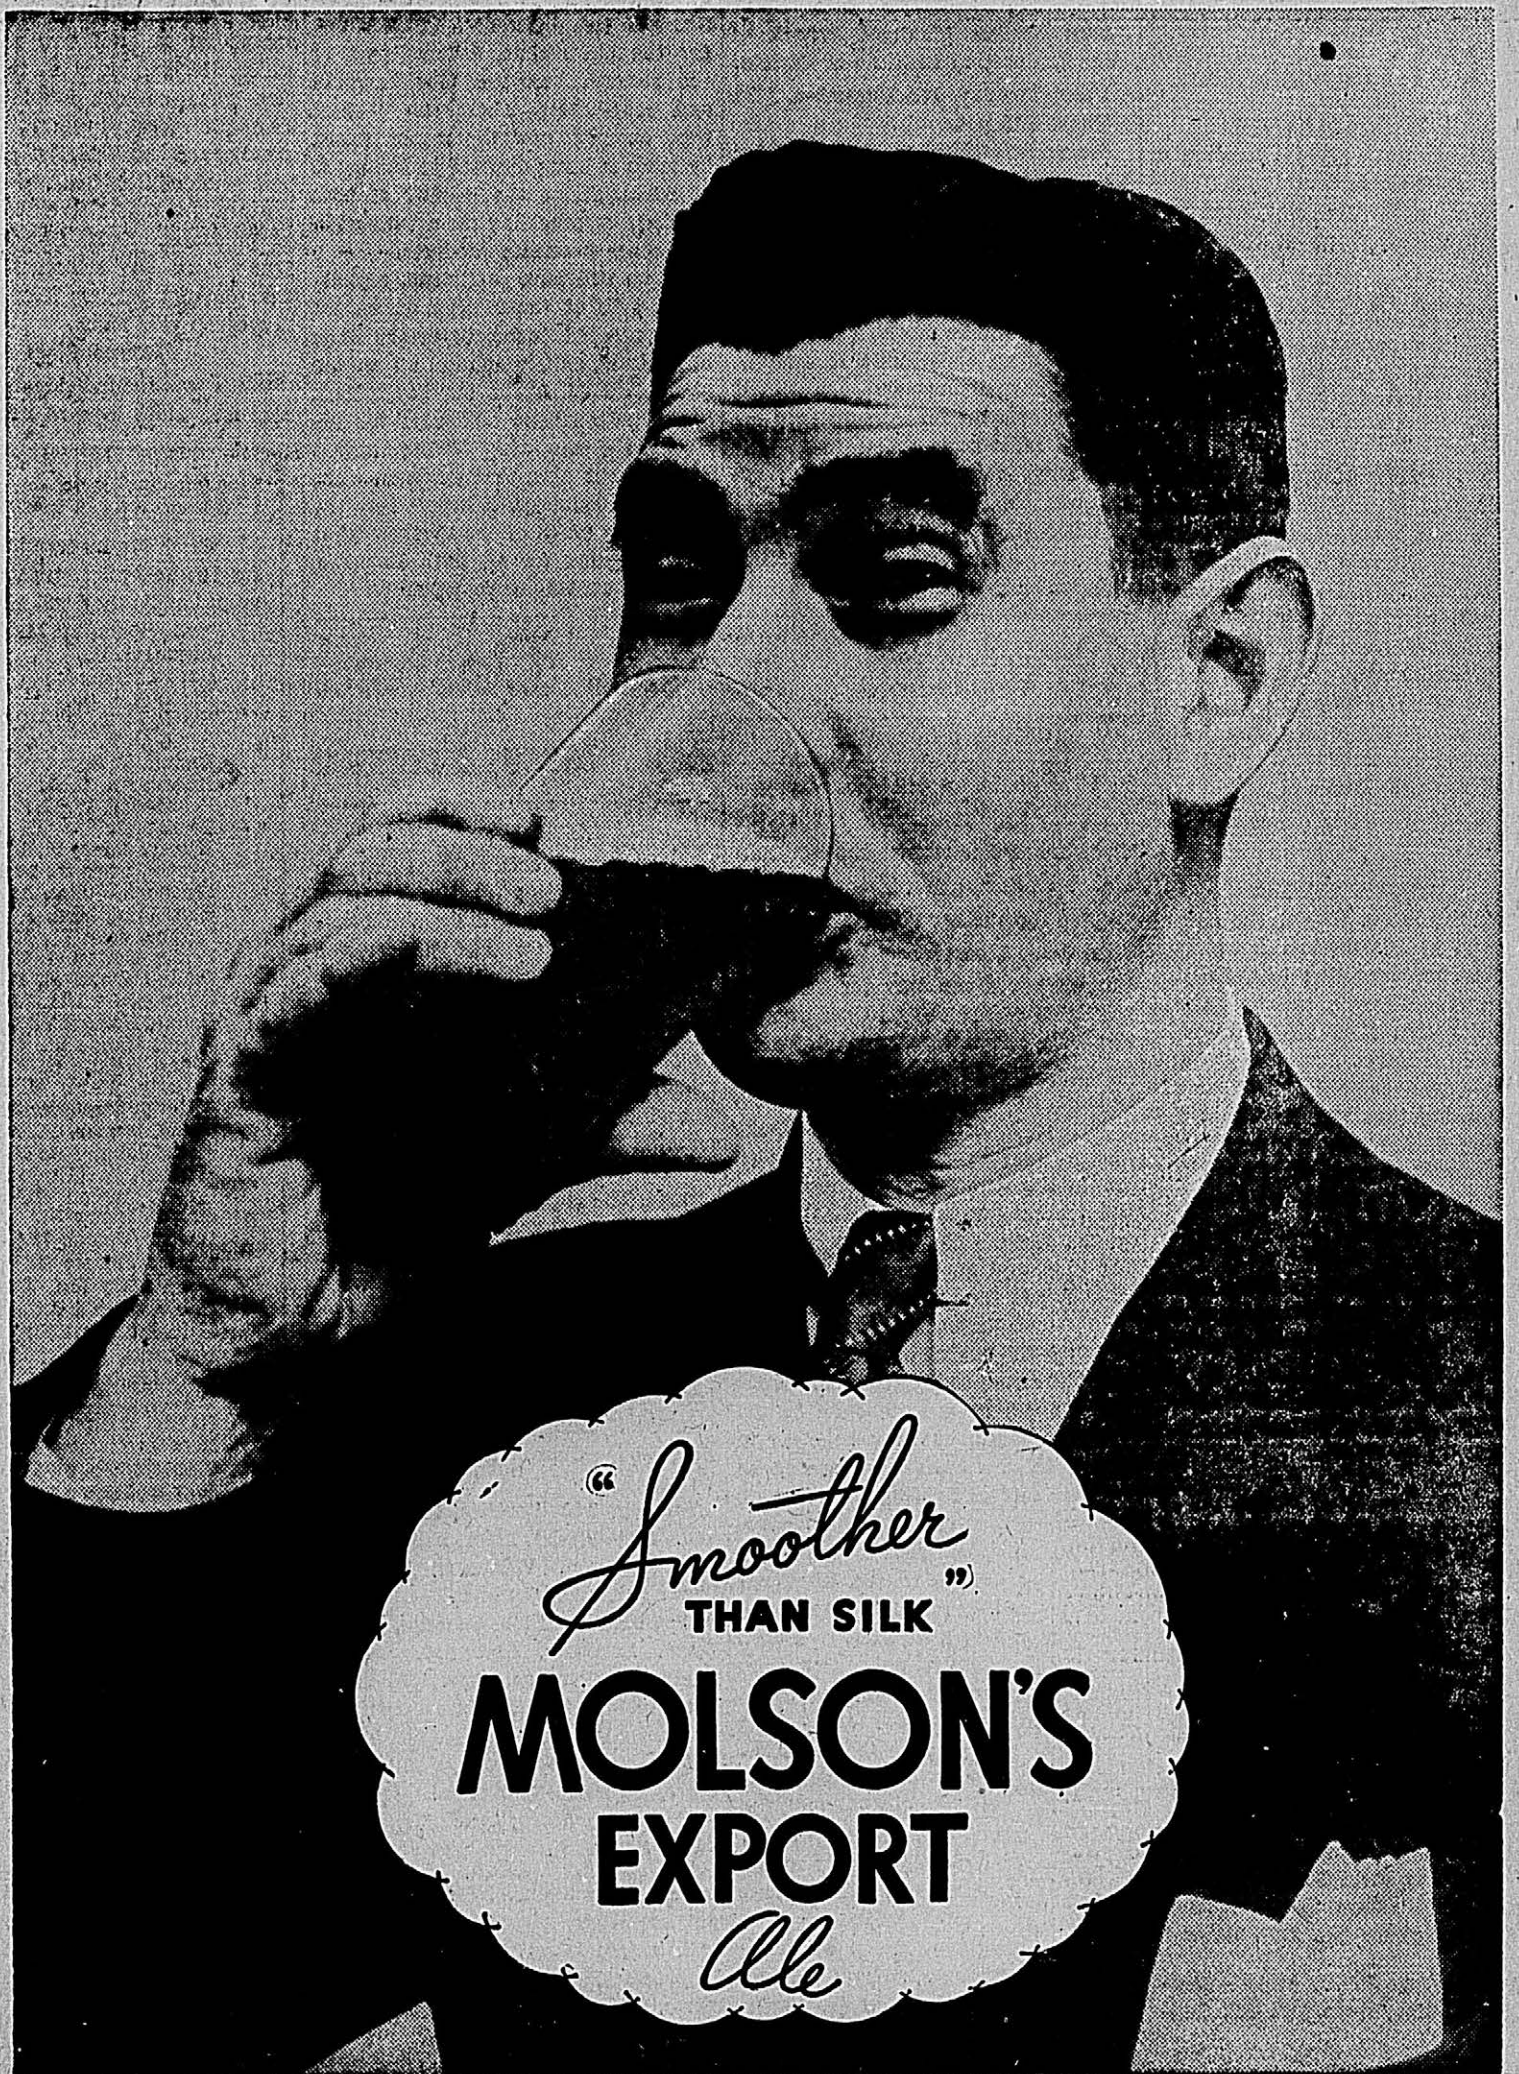

. . . . the carelessness of some people.
Rings left on wash-stands.
Important letters left lying about.
Carelessness in business often has serious consequences.

A Bank cannot afford it, but more than that, it knows its customers cannot afford it either. That is why we have thousands of customers making use of our Safety Deposit Boxes.

Ask any of our branches about them.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

One of the world's largest and strongest banks.

KEEPING IN SHAPE This Winter?

HANDBALL, BASKETBALL, HEALTH DRILLS, INDOOR TRACK, SWIMMING, ETC.

Two or three workouts per week will keep you fit.

Excellent facilities available 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Students' Rate:

To June 1st $7.25

One Year $10.00

CENTRAL

YMCA
1441 Drummond St. M.A. 8331

SAVE $ $ by RENTING

UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITERS

From the maker

UNDERWOOD ELLIOTT FISHER LIMITED

639 Craig W. LA. 4241

Why Walk A Mile?

When you can have your lunch or dinner at a convenient restaurant where the service is quick, the food the best that can be bought and cooked as you desire it.

PRICE THAT SUITS EVERY POCKET

McGILL SANDWICH SHOP

545 MILTON STREET

NOTICES

In future the Daily will not run classified advertising in the Notice column. Such advertisements may be placed in the Daily if paid for. The office of the Advertising Manager, Mr. G. H. Fletcher, is at 690 Sherbrooke St. (L.A. 7141).

PLAYER'S NOTICE

Will all interested in scenery construction, please report to the Union this afternoon, or notify Mr. O'Connor if they cannot. This is the last call.

LABOUR CLUB MEETING

The McGill Labour Club will hold its fortnightly meeting on Friday of this week at 8 o'clock in Strathcona Hall. Professor F. R. Scott of the Dept. of Economics, will give a talk on the subject "State Regulation of Collective

On account of the Grace Moore concert at the Imperial on Friday, November 16th, the German Department has found it advisable to present their play, "Die deutschen Kleinstädter," on Thursday the fifteenth, one day earlier than previously announced.

Bargaining." Study groups will be organized at this meeting. Refreshments will be served. All students are welcome.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

For the office of assistant secretary of the Engineering Undergraduate Society. The nominee must come from second year and the nomination sheet must be signed by at least ten students of any year in Engineering. Nominations will close on November the ninth.

BIOLOGY SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Biology Society will be held Tuesday evening, November 6 at 8.15 in the main lecture theatre of the Biology Building. Dr. Huskins, head of the newly created department of Genetics, will speak on "Current Trend in Genetics." This meeting is open to all students, and those interested are invited to attend.

BADMINTON

The Graduate students have been allotted Thursday nights from 7.30 to 11 for badminton on the R.V.C. courts. Fees will be charged for birds as formerly.

M.W.S.A.A. BADMINTON CLUB

Will all members of the Club who wish to enter a doubles and singles tournament, please sign the list in the common room of the Arts Building. Will those wishing to play with special partners in the Doubles Tournament please indicate by signing together.

U. B. C. STUDENTS

There will be a general meeting of British Columbia students in the Chemistry Building, Tuesday, November 6, at 5 p.m. to discuss plans for the annual reunion.

Student Musicians wanted for an orchestra now organizing for broadcasting. Players of string instruments specially required. Apply to Miss Heasley.

CAMP COURSE

A series of ten lectures dealing with camp work is being offered by the Department of Physical Education. Starting Tuesday, November 6th, these lectures will be given on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4-5 p.m. and will be held in room 12, R.V.C. The course is designed to be of practical assistance to prospective camp counsellors, and the lectures will be handled by specialists in this field. Men and women students of the university are welcome to attend.

ANNOUNCEMENT

According to Dr. Hendel, the aim of his group of folk-dancers is to foster a better understanding between students and professors, and he represents the insinuation that his group is a bunch of old fogies. Those of you who saw the fine exhibition of English Folk-Dancing that was put on at the beginning of the year will agree that this statement is false. Didn't you feel an urge to join in? Now's your chance. Start Tuesday night and enjoy folk-dancing.

As a special enticement Dr. Hendel has kindly invited the Thursday night group to join his own Tuesday group. Everyone is welcome—come and see what we have to offer. You have nothing to lose and all to gain.

LOST

A Gamma Phi Beta Pledge pin—a crescent moon on a brown background. Lost near locker 145 R.V.C. on Thursday afternoon. Finder please return to Porter's office R.V.C.

Ruth Schnellby, R. V. C.

A Gamma Phi Beta pledge pin—a crescent moon on a brown background. Lost near Locker 145 R.V.C. on Thursday afternoon. Finder please return to Porter's Office, R.V.C.

Cunningham's Practical anatomy, Vol. 1, in the Field House last Saturday. Please return to the Medical Building or phone EL 2760. Reward.

On Friday, an R.V.C. Athletic Coupon book. Please leave with Bill Gentleman.

A green Parker fountain pen—Monday night in Ladies Check Room at the Union. Finder please leave with Bill Gentleman.

On Geology I field trip over Mt. Royal a hammer. Will finder please leave at Museum.

Kimball's College Physics. Also an English Edition Trigonometry Book. Please leave with Bill Gentleman, Arts Building.

10 inch K and E Polyphase Duplex slide rule in black case. Finder please leave with Harry Grimsdale in the Engineering Building.

A pair of black kid gloves with white stitching. Finder please leave with Bill Gentleman.

A lucky piece. A pink Micky Mouse with white feet on a blue string. Extremely important that it should soon be recovered. Finder please leave in Bill Gentleman's office.

FOUND

About a week ago, a copy of "Democracy and Education." Apply to "The Weavers," 2092 University Street.

One rug left in Woman's Rest Room, Arts Building, two or three weeks ago. Coat also found in Arts Building. Several other articles also awaiting claimants. Apply to Bill Gentleman.

Will the owners of the property listed below please call at the office of Strathcona Hall and claim it: One Student Handbook, one comb, one compact one lipstick, one pair of gloves.

Two umbrellas (ladies) in the Union, the night of the Freshman Prom. Owners should apply to Miss Heasley.

TODAY

Tea cancelled. Mr. Currier has, unfortunately, to cut short his visit at McGill, so the tea and forum called for this afternoon have been cancelled.

TUESDAY

2.00 p.m.—Library Committee. Badminton.
2.45 p.m.—Records III, M. E. Binmore
5.00 p.m.—Prof. MacLennan's Group.
8.00 p.m.—Folk Dancing.

Junior Section Montreal Branch of The Engineering Institute of Canada
Date: Monday, 5th November, 1934.
Time: 8.15 p.m.
Place: Bell Telephone Toll Building, Belmont Street.
Visit to the Toll Building of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

Members will meet on the 2nd floor of the Toll Building at 8.15 sharp, where they will be provided with guides and given an opportunity to examine the power equipment and may witness the arrangement for long distance operating, radio hook-ups, trans-Atlantic telephony, teletype and telegraph operations, etc.
LEON A. DUCHASTEL, Jr. E.I.C., Secretary, Junior Section.
October 31st, 1934.

Gridsters' Hopes Dashed

(Continued from page 1)

mad scramble. Again Barnabe attempted to drop, and again the Shaughnessy line rushed him into failure. This time, however, the ball sailed over for another point, making the score 8-4. A couple of penalties to Queen's paved the way for McGill's possession of the ball on their own 40. Two long passes, off Degnan's wing, netted no result whatever. An exchange of kicks, and a bullet-like flip from Riddell to McLernon netted 20 yards. Another pass to Young was bowled over by the alert Tricolour defence, and still another was intercepted by Munro on the Queen's 35. A kick, another Red pass, and another penalty for an off-side, and the game was over.

Redmen Err

Such is the outline of play, and such were the errors of the Redmen. Probable winners at a stage close to the half-time mark, at least as close to victory as any team can possibly be over the kind of fighting on-your-toes, keep-your-eye-on-the-ball don't-take-any-chances system used by the merry Ted Reeves and his rugged Kingstonians, they faded from formidability to failure in as long as it takes to drop a ball or flip a forward pass. One more game remains to the Redmen in which to vindicate themselves and atone somewhat for previous omissions of effectiveness. Toronto comes here next week. Traditional rivals of McGill, the Blueboys boast one victory over Shaughnessy's charges, having won the first game of the season in the Queen City 10-4.

Queen's: Sonshine, fly wing; Barnabe, Munro, Edwards, halves; Kruger, quarter; Barker, snap; Kostuk, Waugh inside; Zvonkin, Kirkland, middle; Wing, Elliott, outside. Subs: Lewis, Young, Bews, Weir.

McGill: Young, fly wing; Byrne, Mc-

Visitors Will Take

(Continued from page 1)

the field of politics. The debate is to take place in Moyse Hall at 8.15 sharp, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

Melbourne Dolg and Philip Vineberg, two well-known figures on the Campus who need no biographer to outline their activities at McGill, will uphold the affirmative in this debate. The Oxford and Cambridge representatives are Robertson Crichton and Leslie Jackson, respectively, who have emerged victorious from the Maritime debates.

Robertson Crichton, whose interest in dramatics, has produced six plays, and had a role in Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." He enjoys a prominence on the Oxford campus as an officer of several undergraduate societies. Leslie Jackson, a South African by birth, was attracted to the stage rather than to debating during the earlier part of his training. He has not yet decided on his career, but is at present studying Philosophy and Classics. He is Chairman of the Cambridge Union section of the British League of Nations, and the first President of the Cambridge Union Labour Club.

In 1932 the McGill debaters, A. Marshall and Collard, won a unanimous decision from the judges, in spite of the fact that the Britishers were superior in the marshalling of arguments and their delivery. The international that year was with University College of Wales and the University of Glasgow.

The subject for the debate has been carefully selected, and in a period like this when the public eye is strained by watching which way the political cat is going to jump, it should have a wide appeal to students.

The executive of the McGill Debating Union have announced the judges who will be: Mr. Justice Fabre, Surveyor of the Superior Court; Venerable Arch-Deacon Gower-Rees; Rector of St. Georges Church; and A. D. P. Heeny, local lawyer.

Ireland's Economic

(Continued from page 1)

mind and of the inferiority complex that were weighing her down. There has been a restoration of the Irish language, a language that was, in the time Ireland was under English rule, definitely discouraged, even made the cause for punitive measures. In certain colleges there are summer schools where only Irish may be spoken or taught. Race pride is strengthened.

"Of course, we have our difficulties as elsewhere—problems of poverty, unemployment and the slum districts. But with this difference. Whereas, under the old regime, a large part of the revenue was used for barracks and poor-houses, where the paupers were dumped, now the money raised by taxes is being diverted to the cause of education, to the helping of poor children by providing them with milk, and other necessary products.

"If we still have capitalism, exploitation, evils of Imperialism, if we are still controlled financially by the Bank of England, still, in spite of all, we are going forward. Again, our government has a paternalistic tendency; for instance, the censorship of literature is with us, but alas, that exists in most European countries. I hope," were the concluding words of the speaker, "that we are bound for an Irish Republic, an Irish workingman's republic."

Basketeers Prepare

(Continued from page 3)

to learn that a McGill Grads entry in the senior section of the Montreal Basketball League is a definite possibility. The project has been given consideration by prominent ex-members of McGill teams, including George Faulkner, Bob Calhoun, Bunny Talpis, Oakie Ross, Mel Rice, Carvell Hammond, Sterling McLean and Gerry Halpenny, and it is felt that with the material on hand a well-balanced entry for league competition could be formed. The chief obstacle is, of course lack of floor accommodation, but the Grads believe that this can be overcome.

Rehearsals For Cinderella

Monday, 3.00—Piper, Sherwood, Sanborn, Clare. 4.00—Wilder, Farrell, Cameron, Dobson, Piper, Hawkins, Sherwood, Clare, Brietzke, Piper, Vazcek.

Tuesday, 3.00—Sanborn, Piper, Dobson. 5.00—Wilder, Piper, Farrell, Vazcek, Cameron, Wilkinson, Hawkins, Clare, Brietzke, Sanborn.

Wednesday, 3.00—Sanborn, Piper, Clare, Brietzke, Sherwood. 5.00—Sherwood, Cameron, Clare, Brietzke, Sanborn, Piper, Wilkinson, Farrell, Hawkins, Wilder, Vazcek, Dobson.

Thursday, 3.00—Cameron, Sherwood, Clare, Brietzke, Sanborn, Piper, Farrell. 4.00—Sanborn, Brietzke, Clare, Piper, Sherwood.

Lernon, Markham, halves; Riddell, quarter; Wigle, snap; Ruschlin, Stockwell, inside; Drury, Hornig, middle; Leourneau, Hedge, outside. Subs: Smith Pierce, Richert, Wagner, Degnan, Mack Robb, Gilbert, Craig, Savage.
Officials: Bill Conseglio, Montreal; "Ga" Mungovan, Toronto; "Gar" Kiell, Ottawa.

THE WORKSHOP

"Spreading The News"

3.00—Anyone who can come.
4.00—Entire Cast.
Until the play is produced, every rehearsal will be a vitally important one. Please make every effort to attend them.

"The Intruder"

Rehearsal for the entire cast in the Music Room at 4. All lines to have been learned.

"The Knight of the Burning Pestle"
Mon., Nov. 5, 2.00—Gues, Kearney, Hawkins. 3.00—Chapman, McMaster, Wilder, Dunn, Snelderman. 4.00—Willard, Wilkinson, Lockwood.

Tues., Nov. 6, 3.00—Davidson, Gues, Kearney, Hawkins, McMaster, Wilder. 4.00—Woodburn. 7.30—Chapman, McMaster, Wilder, Snelderman, Dunn, Dick, Gould, Piper, Hawkins, Kearney, Gues, Northcott, Woodburn, Carroll, Peterson, Willard, Wilkinson, Lockwood.

Wed., Nov. 7, 3.00—Davidson, Gues, McMaster, Wilder. 4.00—Gues, Davidson, McMaster, Wilder.

Thurs., Nov. 8, 8.30—Hawkins, Kearney, Davidson, Gues. 7.30—Act 2 and 3, without Citizen and Wife.

Fri., Nov. 9, 3.00—Chapman. 7.30—Acts 5, 1, 4.

CAMP COURSE

A series of ten lectures dealing with Camp Work is being offered by the Department of Physical Education. Starting Tuesday, November 6th, these lectures will be given on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 5 p.m. The Course is designed to be of practical assistance to prospective Camp Counsellors, and the lectures will be handled by specialists in this field. Men and Women students of the University are welcome to attend.

Senior Hockey Team

(Continued from page 3)
few practices at the beginning of last season, but quit because of pressure of studies.

Engage Middlebury

On Friday, December 7th, the seniors will journey to Middlebury, Vermont up the ice. Brown drove in Verdun's second goal half a minute after the start of the last period, after a scramble in front of the net. Ethier was credited with an assist.

The McGill team as a whole was outstanding, the forwards drove and backchecked in brilliant fashion, while the two man defence was unbeatable. McHugh in the nets was at his best form and turned in a sparkling performance. McKay and Melkie-John played the entire sixty minutes except for a brief two minute rest which "Melk" gained in the last session when he took a minor penalty. The two forward lines were both steady and consistently good. The new combinations held up well under the heavy fire, and stuck to their men at all times. Duff, Crutchfield, and Lamb were the smoothest trio, but they did not outclass Elle, Morse and Crosby by very much.

Brunet Stars

Ethier was the individual star of the blue and white forward lines, but the

OLD MCGILL 1935

Will the following graduating students please have their photos taken to-day or to-morrow at Rice's Studio. Also those whose names have already appeared but who have not yet been photographed. The cost is $2.75 which includes one copy of the photo.

Science
Misses:
Bell
Ellis
Garlich
Mallett
Miller
Schecter
Werner
Wight
Wooton
Messrs.:
Allen
Austin
Chapman
Chubb
Elliott
Falls
Ferguson
Friedman
Goldstein
Honeyman
Hornby
Horowitz
Hutchison
Johnson
Kittes
Layton
McDonald

McLean
MacLeod
Pope
Ramsay
Rotman
Scott
Smith
Sneldgrove
Vazcek
Walker
Wheeler
Yancey
Engineering
Auld
Barry, D. J. O.
Barza
Beak
Bloom
Brown
Christie, A. M.
Christie, R. L.
Clarke
Cooper
Costello
Dobson
Dunlop
Dunne
Evis
Ferguson
Finkelstein
Frankel

A Captain from some southern port
Said, "I'm just as pleased as can be
For I'm back on the ocean
And I haven't a notion
Of missing my brand, you can see."

10 for 10c. — 25 for 25c. and in tin of 50's and 100's

Smoke a FRESH cigarette
BRITISH CONSOLS
COLLECT THE CARD REQUIR

Soccer Squad Annexes

(Continued from page 3)

remain out of action owing to pressure of studies. Arthur Minnion once again put on his versatile act of playing the two half positions at different intervals throughout the contest, whilst Cahusac was switched to the forward line, from the full-back division, as Flood paired with Harkness in the defence. Evelyn in the nets played his usually reliable game and amazed spectators by throwing the ball half the length of the field.

Stevens, Drum and Twigg were best for R.M.C. Line-ups were as follows:

McGill: Evelyn, Harkness, Flood, Minnion, Owen, Horsnell, Innis, Nolan, Cahusac, Feltner, Lowe. Subs., Rivett and Smart.

R.M.C.: Twigg, McPherson, Gallo-way, Miller, Stephens, Carpenter, Brown, Fox, Ridout, Drum, McLaughlin. Subs., Bradford.

Priced from 5.00 to 10.50

A good pair of shoes is the most essential part of your wardrobe.

(Get Surpass)

AGNEW-SURPASS
SHOES, HATS, TRUNKS, LUGGAGE

1111 St. Catherine St. W., near Peel

MISSING PHONE NUMBERS

There are no telephone numbers on record in the Registrar's Office for the following students. Unless the missing numbers are handed in immediately, they will not appear in the Student's Directory.

Archibald, M. M.
Argue, G. H.
Banks, H. H. J.
Barclay, J. A.
Black, P. T.
Boyd, G. F.
Breton, T. A.
Brissenden, L. A.
Brissenden, W. G.
Brunet, J.
Bussey, James F., B.Sc. 2
Cahusac, Louis F., Law 3
Chisholm, Juliet, Arts P.
Chu, Fred, Med. 1
Darche, Jean H., Med. 1
Deane, Norton A. W., B.A. 2
Denton, Hazel J., B.A. 4
Derkson, Carl E., Med. 5
Dollar, Helen E., Med. 4
Elliott, Leslie T., Com. 3
Evans, Delano E., Eng. P.
Fetterly, Helen W., B.A. 4
Fetterly, Marjorie, B.A. 3
Filson, Homer W., Med. 5
Fleck, John, Arts P.
Fletcher, W. Ellwood, B.A. 1
Fraser, Gordon W., B.A. 1
Gahan, Henry M., Med. 5
Garden, Joseph M., Eng. 3
Graves, Horace B., B.A. 1
Gray, Mary M., Lib. Sch.
Haber, Harold E., Dent. 4
Hale, Margaret E., B.A. 3
Harkness, M. L., B.A. 2
Hart, Reginald G., Med. 2
Hartwick, Elbert F., Eng. 1
Harvie, Jean E., B.A. 4
Herring, George A., Com. 2
Hetherington, E., M. Grad. Sch.
Higgins, Raymond F., Med. 3
Higginson, Byron, Com. 1
Hough, Earl, Med. 5
Jacobsen, John W., Eng. 4
Jones, Stuart P., Eng. 1
Juzenko, Carl J., Eng. 4
Kerry, Frank G., Eng. 4
Kettleborough, E. G., B.A. 1
Kirby, John C., B.A. 3
Koch, Samuel W., Com. 1
Koessler, Horace H., Med. 2
Kotler, Beatrice S., B.A. 3
Kozel, Solomon M., Dent. P.
Kruming, Adolf O., Grad. Sch.
Kucharsky, M. H., Eng. 4
Larson, Charles P., Med. 4
Leung, Solomon W., B.A. 1
Levine, Rachmiel, Med. 4
Lowies, George A., Eng. 3
Luterman, David, Com. 1
Macdonald, Charles C., B.A. 3
MacDuff, Robert, Com. 3
Mans, Agnes E., B.Sc. 1
MacKinnon, Robert D., Eng. 1
McMillan, Donald, B.A. 3
McMurry, Caroline V., B.A. 1
Macpherson, John, B.A. 2
Mace, J. P., Maurice, Eng. 4

Malloy, Connolly J., Med. 5
Mason, Bernard A., Med. 3
Massa, Neville T., Med. 1
Matthews, George F., Med. 5
Mildon, Denis F., B.A. 2
Mills, Alexander, Theol. 1
Mislap, Sam H., B.A. 1
Monahan, William D., Med. 4
Monk, H. Carleton, Com. 1
Morse, Ralph J., Eng. 1
Moseley, Shirley C. T., Eng. 4
Nadler, Moses, Com. 1
Nagano, Shimpel, Arch. 3
Nelson, Richard W., Med. 5
Oulme, Paul J., Law 1
Parsons, Harold E., Theol.
Perreault, Raymond R., Med. 5
Pickett, Allison D., Grad. Sch.
Pidgeon, Arthur L., B.A. 2
Pierce, Henry A., Med. 5
Porter, Sam J., B.Sc. 1
Prebble, Malcolm L., Grad. Sch.
Randolph, Moss, Eng. 2
Rauch, Joseph, B.A. 2
Renton, Kathleen M., Phys. Ed.
Reynolds, William N. B., Eng. 1
Rice, Joseph D., Eng. 4
Richardson, Laur, R., Grad. Sch.
Rodi, Albert, H., Med. 1
Rosen, Louis, B.A. 2
Ross, Thomas W., Eng. 4
Rudy, Abe A., Eng. 2
Ruschin, Louis J., Med. 1
Sadler, James A., Eng. 1
Sadler, Olive E. M., Med. 1
Scoggan, Homer J., Grad. Sch.
Scott, Ainsworth D., B.Sc. 1
Scott, William J., B.Sc. 4
Self, George M., B.A. 4
Shane, Gerald, Eng. 2
Shepherd, Janet M., B.A. 1
Sheridan, Philip H., Med. 3
Silver, Samuel, Med. 2
Skillings, Cherra M., B.A. 2
Slatten, Edward F., Med. 1
Smart, Jane C., B.A. 2
Smiley, George W., Eng. 3
Sparling, James F., Med. 5
Steele, Sydney H., Com. P.
Steinkopf, Helen T., Lib. Sch.
Stinnmetz, John R., Med. 3
Stewart, Reginald G., Arts P.
Sutherland, William S., B.A. 3
Suthren, Joseph W., Eng. 3
Szegedy, János J., Dent. 4
Teller, Roland H., B.A. 1
Tessier, Norman W., Eng. 3
Tockus, Maclean, B.A. 1
Vinokur, Jack, B.A. 4
Vogt, Anthony G., Med. 2
West, Mae L., Grad. Sch.
Weston, Marguerite U., B.A. 1
White, Elwood V., Grad. Sch.
Woo, Wesley S., B.A. 1
Vorrall, James, B.Sc. 4
Zimmerman, Alfred, B.A. 4

DUROCHER 3482

3 Meals Daily

FOR

69¢

Weekly or Monthly

STRICTLY HOME-COOKING

— MR. AND MISS. —
Class President

Will You Please Phone

FI. 2355

And Make Arrangements

With Us To Take Your

Class Photo—Thank You

STREET PHOTO SUPPLY COMPANY

FITZ. 2355

1479 ST. CATHERINE W.